

Coalition of 22 Groups in Support of HELE Technology What They Are Saying

“CCUS and HELE will enable the United States to become a world leader in the global clean energy initiative.”

“The importance of opening our doors to clean coal production is clear.”

“CCUS and HELE powered low-emission stations built by American companies are the most effective way of making power generation cleaner while ensuring electricity remains affordable.”

“It is downright irresponsible for institutions like the World Bank/IMF to dictate what energy sources the poorest countries in the world can leverage to support their development.”

“We urge you to support the U.S. as a leader in exporting clean coal technology to the rest of the world.”

POLITICO INFLUENCE

7/17/17: CONSERVATIVE GROUPS SEND LETTER TO PERRY: An array of conservative groups sent a letter to Energy Secretary Rick Perry today urging him to do more to support "clean-coal" technology. "We urge you to support the U.S. as a leader in exporting clean coal technology to the rest of the world, effectively closing the job gap in the U.S. as well as bringing enhanced energy supplies to developing nations in need," the groups wrote in the letter. Signatories include the American Legislative Exchange Council, the American Conservative Union and the Alliance for Wise Energy Decisions.
